MOTOR SPORT

Super Saturday for motor fans

Torbay Motor Club will once again stage a display of competition cars at South Devon College's Community Day at their Churston campus on Saturday (March 5), from 10am to 3pm, writes Rupert Barker.

Autocross cars will feature this year, with three examples of highly successful machines to see. Simon Ford will bring his Honda Fireblade powered Special and a Peugeot 206, and Kieran Anderson will display his South-Western regional championship-winning Smart Roadster.

Two examples of cars that can be used in speed events (hillclimb and sprint) with very little modification are Les Connett's production car class Seat Arosa and, for the fans of historic sports cars, Adrian White will wheel out his immaculate Lotus Elan.

The owners of these successful cars, and other club members, will be on-hand to talk to visitors and students about making a start in motorsport, including car preparation, safety equipment and joining a local motor club.
